But, How can this be?

"What is this indomitable spirit that resides in this creature we have called 'man'? This spirit that causes him to rise to his best when all around is at its worst." The Elder paused and looked intently at the Acolyte; then he continued probing, "Where did such a course creature receive such a pure essence?"

The Acolyte waited for a moment, and then said, "I've found it to be in his genes, sir. Man is comprised of two parts, 'heaven' and 'hell'. His journey has been long and tortuous, but he has learned and he has grown. And he has risen above the crass and has felt the whisperings of being."

"Can this be true?" Spluttered the Elder. "Are you sure? How... how can this be?"
